

Online Crash Course

Concise Content of IPMA Level D

preparation for IPMA Level C/B course participants

Target group

You do not have an IPMA Level D certification and wish to enter the course Project Manager (GPM) to obtain the IPMA Level C or Level B certification.

You need at least 3 years of professional experience in a responsible project management role for moderately complex projects or in a responsible sub-project management role for complex projects.

Course objectives

Experienced trainers will teach you the contents and requirements of the IPMA Level D according to the Individual Competence Baseline ICB4: contextual competencies (Perspective), personal and social competencies (People), as well as methodological and technical competencies (Practice).

- You will receive a comprehensive overview of the contents of IPMA Level D.
- You will be able to use the correct technical vocabulary.
- You can then seamlessly enter an IPMA Level C/B course.

Format

The course is held over 3 consecutive days in a virtual format.
